

WHO WE ARE – LET US INTRODUCE OURSELVES

Fachverlag Hans Carl of Nuremberg is an international information network for the entire brewing and beverage sector. With their specialist journals and books, the company is an information service provider and medium for the entire sector, and serves customers worldwide in print with books and magazines, and online with a range of internet services, newsletters and archives.

BRAUWELT Print and Online

Subscribers to BRAUWELT receive 3 editions of BRAUWELT per month, and also the BRAUWELT newsletter, which lets them know on Tuesday what they will be able to read in full in the print edition on Thursday. The BRAUWELT International newsletter also gives them up-to-date information about all innovations in the brewing sector worldwide. It contains current market data and expert coverage of all scientific and technical developments. Subscribers can also look back at the BRAUWELT archive at www.brauwelt.de. This offers access to all BRAUWELT publications since 1991, from 1999 with the full text in PDF, as well as the BrauStatistik (brewing statistics) area, which contains the most important statistics on the brewing and beverage sector. A BRAUWELT subscription also includes the BRAUWELT breviary – a yearbook, which is probably unique in the sector, handy, clear, and so practical it is indispensable.

Reflecting the great international demand for BRAUWELT, it is published in four foreign languages: BRAUWELT International in English (www.brauweltinternational.com), BRAUWELT Spanish, BRAUWELT Chinese and BRAUWELT Russian. Fachverlag Hans Carl offers a comprehensive range of information worldwide, and reaches decision-makers on-site in their own language.

The BRAUWELT International Newsletter is available free worldwide. Subscribers can log in for access to all specialist articles from BRAUWELT International since 1999.

BrewingScience

The international importance of the BrewingScience specialist journal (www.brewingscience.de) published by Fachverlag Hans Carl is clear from the very name. It is published online first as a scientific organ for the Weihenstephan Scientific Centre at the TU Munich, the VLB (Versuchs- und Lehranstalt) in Berlin, the Scientific Station for Brewing in Munich, the Veritas Laboratory in Zurich, Doemens-wba Technikum GmbH in Gräfeling/Munich, the Wissenschaftsförderung der deutschen Brauwirtschaft, and its reach is even more global due to cooperation with renowned international institutions, both for articles and distribution.

As well as the online edition and the printed yearbook, subscribers receive unlimited access to the brewing science database. This makes it possible to search over 30,000 summaries of publications relating to beverage science from every country in the world published since 1963. In addition to the scientific work that is published directly, we keep readers informed with a service offering summaries of relevant scientific contributions in other magazines. Following cooperation with the European Brewery Convention (EBC), BrewingScience has been their favoured publication medium since 2009.

Specialist books from Fachverlag Hans Carl

The company publishes specialist books as well as the specialist magazines, to fulfil its role as an information service provider. The range includes classics such as the Brewery Address Book, which is updated every two years and is now in its 25th edition, and the textbook, “Selected Chapters from Brewing Technology”. These titles are just two examples from the wide range of specialist books.

A whole range of English-language titles was also generated in cooperation with the European Brewery Convention (EBC). These titles bring together science and practice and are a treasury of technical and technological knowledge worldwide. For example Analytica EBC, a collection of loose sheets, which has just appeared in its 8th edition.

The specialist bookstore can order and deliver any books and publications on beer and beverages, even including fiction, worldwide with a very quick turnaround.

The range of the general publishing department within Fachverlag Hans Carl includes travel guides, illustrated books, and also books on history and history of art in the area of Franconia and Nuremberg.
